

Hello,

Thank you for reading the blog and downloading this content.

Just a quick introduction to the content you just downloaded.

In the zip file, there are two IDML documents.

They have exactly the same content, but a fundamental difference:

- “sample-1.idml” is for you to try to create a Table of Contents yourself. It contains only the styles and a little bit of content.
- “TOC_Template.idml” is a template ready-to-use to create your Table of Contents. It also has a Table of Contents Style you can import into your InDesign files.

Both the IDMLs have the Paragraph Styles you need to create a Table of Contents as it is explained in the blog post from which you downloaded this file.

Among the paragraph styles, there is a paragraph style called “language” you can use to set the language of all the styles.

P.S: You have probably already seen what Redokun is, but in case you haven't, Redokun is a simple way to translate Adobe InDesign files. You can try it for free at <https://redokun.com>!
